PROVINCES OF THE INTERIOR.

The rumor gains ground, that President Mitre is about to make a tour of the provinces, and, although not officially announced, it is probable he will before long make a personal inspection of the Republic committed to his charge. The condition of the interior is painted in gloomy tints, and, if we believe every day reports, the most miserable and poverty-stricken country on earth is that which lies between the River Plate and the Andes. Civil war and Indian ravages have reduced the little cities, scattered over its extent, to a state of mendicity, while the rich pastures are deserted, and energy and industry have fled to a more congenial climate.

Yet La Plata possesses natural resources unequalled by any state on this continent, and requires only the genius and solicitude of a wise legislator to raise its name and people to high prosperity. The starving hamlets, at present only remarkable as the residence of penniless and pigmy Governments, must soon become large centres of population and wealth. Of natural wealth. The Duque de Morny, a man of Nature are so variously considerable wealth and influenced, distributed that every ence, has purchased from the Government of Chile, for the sum of 1,000,000 francs, the celebrated mine of Tres Puntas, which is said to be the richest silver mine in the world. The mine is situated in the province of Coquimbo, and is the property of the Edwards family, who have worked it for many years. The ore is of the richest description, and the mine is said to be inexhaustible. The Government of Chile has been induced to sell the mine in consequence of the heavy expenses which it has incurred in the war with Spain.

several provinces, that delightful retreat, which exhausts a magnificent view of a long chain of mountains, whose tops are eternally covered with snow, inspiring a feeling of reverence and awe.

During our visits to this vicinity we saw the Indian peasants trade of the U. States was in its pounding Chuño, a species of Quinoa, Cataharen produced food made from the potato, being much better than the ordinary sort. In a word, the necessaries of life are cheaper than in Europe. The following companies are represented by the undersigned:—The North British and Mercantile, the London Fire and Life, the London Assurance Corporation, the Alliance Assurance Company of London. All those companies have agencies in the city, where proviient parties and large sale in seamless.

Argentine republic has notably retrograded. When the cottons are, we saw the Indian peasants

But we will not attempt to prove an admitted fact, that the presence of the chief magistrate in parts life and activity, while gaining, for himself, an increase of popularity, and for the country a further guarantee of order. We rejoice greatly to enjoy the society of the National Government in this city, and could always oppose, as we have done hitherto, the removal of the same to any other part of the Republic. But we are not going to deny our provincial friends the benefit of Presidential smiles for an interval; and we regard Gen. Mitre's announced journey as calculated to serve both his own constituents and that of the Republic.

GOLD MINES OF LA PAZ.

The River Yuyuni flows through the valley of Los Yungas, where hundreds of Indians, a century ago were employed in collecting gold, washed into the stream from the eastern side of the Andes. In order to collect it they changed the course of the river, till it was about two feet in height, and then resulted in the deposits that fell into it.—Large quantities of gold were collected in this manner, and sold at the rate of eight dollars the ounce.

About a league to the north of La Paz is the Indian village of Obrajillo, delightfully situated in a narrow valley; the road that leads to it, winds over large slippery rocks, requiring the greatest caution in directing the mule, as a false step would precipitate the traveller into the valley beneath. Near the base of this mountain is a small country house, surrounded by groups of bananas and lemon trees; the ground-work of the country is clay, and around solitary cocoa-nut trees, the sheep-farmers, place yearly on the ruins, as a protective nothing to justify the saying that the country is fertile; quality adverting. But poor people all around are very. Occasionally, however, a few Indians are known as feeders. But people all around are very. Occasionally, however, a few Indians are known as feeders. COACHMEN.—The owners of diligences, &c. should be very careful in selecting their drivers. We have had occasion a few days ago to see an instance of uncommon insolence towards passengers by an Italian coachman which was well nigh personally chastised by the passengers on the spot, who were very justly incensed.

RADICAL FOOT-CURE.

The undersigned has just arrived in this capital, and begs to announce to the illustrious public, that he continues operations, by a new and infallible method; in a few minutes and without the least pain or hurt extracting corns, bunions &c.

It is necessary not to confound my system with that of other pedicures, for I have made surgical studies, and not with the most complete success in curing a number of persons who had been ill cured for many years with irritating salves of the best the moment the operation was concluded they were cured without experiencing the slightest inconvenience.

I have, moreover, an elixir, of my own, for healing Corns, with or any operation.
